Celebrating the Day of the Dead

October 31st All Hallows Eve - Halloween

Nov. 1st the Day of the Children - All Saint's Day

Nov. 2nd the Day of the Dead - All Soul's Day

Celebrating the Day of the Dead has long been a tradition in Mexico. During the days of the Dead, some believe that the souls of the departed return to earth to visit with and to provide council or give advice to family and loved ones.

Where possible, families would visit family grave sites, clean them up, and decorate the graves. In the United States this is rarely possible. Many set up altars in their homes in remembrance of their departed relatives.

Members of 12:30pm Mass will set up and decorate tables in the gathering space this week, all members of St. Therese are invited to participate, bringing pictures of your deceased relatives, something that was special to the deceased family member and enjoy this remembrance celebration. The tables may have pictures, flowers, food, drinks, and spices.
